

Sexual health clinics in Lambeth and Southwark

You can catch a sexually transmitted infection (STI) through unprotected sex.

Staying safe is important:

- Always use a condom and lubricant for penetrative sex.
- Contraception (e.g. the pill) will protect you from pregnancy but it won't prevent you getting a STI such as chlamydia or HIV.
- STIs can be passed from person to person through sexual activity and sometimes through close bodily contact. Getting tested regularly for STIs is important for good general health.
- Some STIs have no symptoms, so you won't always know if you've been infected.
- STIs can be treated effectively, if they are diagnosed promptly. But if left untreated they can seriously damage your health.
- It's recommended to have a routine sexual health check-up once per year (or sooner, if you change your partner regularly).
- A check-up at a local clinic is free, confidential and easy to book using this leaflet.
- If you've had risky or unsafe sex, seek help as soon as possible (within 72 hours) at one of the services listed in this leaflet.

All of the services listed provide free condoms, lubricant and confidential advice about sex and sexual health concerns.

And don't forget your local chemist! Many pharmacies now provide free chlamydia screening, pregnancy testing, emergency contraception (morning after pill), and condoms as well as advice on good sexual health.

Why should I go to a sexual health clinic?

There are a number of reasons for using one of our services. These might include:

- Wanting to get tested for sexually transmitted infections
- Wanting to discuss your contraceptive choices
- Getting the contraception that suits your needs.
- Wanting to pick up free condoms and lubricant
- Getting checked out and treated for symptoms
- Needing treatment for unprotected sex, e.g. emergency contraception or post-exposure prophylaxis (PEP) for an HIV risk

Get Protected Tested Treated

There are many local NHS services which provide free sexual health screening, a range of contraception options, as well as sexual health advice and treatment for sexually transmitted infections (STIs). These services are provided in a range of settings including: pharmacies, GPs, local clinics, and hospitals, all of which provide free, confidential and open access services.

This leaflet will help you find a clinic near where you live or work. There is no need to feel embarrassed about seeking sexual health advice or care. Staff in the clinics are well-trained professionals who are expected to treat you with sensitivity and respect. Services are free and confidential and information will only be shared with you GP with your consent.

Walk-in or appointment?

Some clinics are walk-in services. At others you need to call to book an appointment. Most clinics are open during the day, although some offer an evening or weekend service. Remember that on a busy day you might have to wait some time before being seen, so it's a good idea to give yourself enough time in case the clinic is busy.

Sometimes, walk-in clinics get booked up quickly. You may want to call in advance to check with the clinic about their expected waiting times. If in doubt, arrive half an hour before the clinic start time.

Changes to services

We have made every effort to ensure that the information in this leaflet is accurate. However, please note that services change over time and opening times might differ from those printed here. For this reason we strongly recommend that you call the clinic you wish to visit beforehand, to ensure their services are still operating as advertised.
